

Inclusive Film and Drama Course

The Trinity Rooms, Stroud

September 2025 – February 2026

Wednesdays 2 – 4pm (term time only)

A Film and Drama course where creativity meets social change.

This is an inclusive course, designed for people who face disabling barriers including mental health challenges, neurodiversity, learning or physical disabilities.

Explore Creative Expression

Using Drama games and exercises you will develop your skills and explore themes that you care about. You'll discover new ways to communicate, connect, and tell stories.

Learn Film-Making Skills

You'll learn how to transform your stories and performances into film. You'll get hands-on experience in scriptwriting, directing, filming and acting.

Be Part of a Community for Change

This course is more than learning skills—it's also about building a community. You'll have the opportunity to create new friendships, grow your confidence and explore how drama and film can make a difference in the world.

No Experience Necessary

Whether you've dreamed of being in front or behind the camera, or are simply curious about trying something new, this course is for you. No prior experience in drama or filmmaking is required—just an open mind and a willingness to explore.

LIGHTS. CAMERA. ACTION!
